This sample demonstrates adding building blocks (custom headers and footers in this case) to the document's glossary. They do not show in the generated document. To use the building blocks, open the document in MS Word and explore the document's glossary.